As for Jackson and Felsch, we note that at the annual meeting of the American League Comistey did not press his threatened fight to bar players who went to the shipyards last summer. The wish for the stars is laudable, but the realization sething much different.

Going Back to the Old. The announcement by James C. Jones, vice-president of the St. Louis Nationals, that Major Branch Rickey, president of

As it is assumed that Major Rickey will retain the presidency of the Cardinals, there will be two manager-presidents in the league. This would look like a return to the early days of professional baseball, when the manager of a ball club was president, business manager, field manager, trainer, be sun tight and midshipmite. trainer, be sun tight and midshipmite. ## STAR OUTFIELDERS HIGH LIGHTS AND SHADOWS TOO MANY BOXERS IN ALL SPHERES OF SPORT

To you all a Merry Christmas! The year opened in war and misery; it closes in peace and triumph. More than that can come to no people. Sport, sportsmen and the sporting spirit helped no little in winning the war and keeping the spirit of the stay at homes as well as the men behind the lines buoyant. So to eportemen again a Merry Christmas!

UBLICATION of a report that the Chicago National League club had pulled wires at Washington to obtain the release of Grover Alexander favorite indoor pastime in New Jersey. from the army yesterday brought an absolute denial from the officials. A boxer with a sore thumb, or some divers baseball critics have opined that of that team. The club let it be known that not only had it made no move other injury, goes into the ring and to get Alexander out, but that it disapproved of any such propagands on would not pay ten cents to see, prothe ground that the major leagues already had suffered too much criticism all or in part. It has been shown that the ground that the major leagues already had suffered too much criticism in matters relating to the army, and that they could ill afford to take any chances now. Baseball critics the country over have come out in support and it has been stated that the club would not want to sign him again at anything like that rate, and that unless his terms were met Cobb would not play.

Also, it has been stated that Jackson no longer was persona grata to the Chicago club because he quit to work in a shipyard, and Felsch likewise was mind the support of their presence over there obviated they must look once more toward their life work and the support of their families. Men are getting out of the army on the filing of affidavits to the effect that they are needed in advance of the quality of the performance. Then chances now. Baseball is a great business, with millions invested. After several lean years the club owners, and the fans too, look for a tremendous revival of public interest and more lively competition for the pennants. If Alexander no longer is an essential in the army—and we doubt if he is—there is no reason why he should not be released in time to give his services to the Chicago club, which paid something like $55,000 for his release to Philadelphia last winter. The Chicago club is entitled to Alexander's services from the minute the season opens. Hank Gowdy and other players who enlisted are entitled to their releases at once, without even a word of debate on the subject.

Art Ross, Reported Killed, Turns Up Very Much Alive.

Art Ross, one of the greatest hockey experts developed in Canada, is one of the many sport celebrities who in recent years have had the pleasure of reading their own obituaries. Last summer we read in various newspapers of the death of Ross in a motorcycle accident in New Hampshire. The other day we were reading some hockey news in a Montreal paper and much to our surprise we came across this note: "The famous Art Ross," who had been "killed in a motorcycle accident." A wire to Montreal brought confirmation of the fact that Ross still was very much alive. It was another Ross who had been killed.

The case of Ross was very much like that of Jiamy Braid, the famous English golfer, who several years ago was reported killed in a railroad accident. Columns and columns of eulogy of Braid were printed in this country, and then came the news that the Braid who had passed away was that Hank Gowdy had been killed in action in France. While this report was was with the discountry and was let off with a life was with the other that the went in to was without confirmation it gained wide circulation. Some papers in the West printed his oblivary, and it must be conceded that they did it up in good style, giving Hank a sendoff such as few ball players ever had been accorded. Now we learn that Hank is with the American Army of Occubut the former sent word at the eleventh pation in Coblenz, living like a lord in a castle, but anxious to get back to hour he was ill. An easy mark was put America, his folks and the catcher's mask.

A Big Opportunity for Intercollegiate Association.

Pennsylvania's plea to the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes America to take the lead in reorganizing intercollegiate sport is well have made baseball their business. Most worthy of the consideration of the officials of that body. The plea has a of them get fat salaries, the biggest of particular significance in view of the coming convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, to be held at the Astor on Friday. This is a critical time in college sport. Most of the colleges are withholding their decision on athletics until after Friday's confabulation. They expect that are unable to box their best. the convention will settle many disputed points and thresh out the main questions of policy. Yet, we believe that if they wait for the National Collegiate Athletic Association they will wait until the cows come home and then some, for the N. C. A. A. is a body much given to talk and little given to making hard and fast decisions. It is one of the beasts of the association that it is only advisory and not legislative.

Pennsylvania's letter to the I. C. A. A. A. a. emphasizes the fact that there is no legislative body for intercollegiate sport in general. The I. C. A. A. A. is supreme in the field of track and field sport in the East, but there the authority stops. The East has no committee such as that in the Western Conference, which settles all athletic questions. In view of the absence of any authorized body to take the lead in making lasting decisions and not mere recommendations which most often are too theoretical and unpracticable a big chance presents itself. The I. C. A. A. A. A. took CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—Officials of both the Chicago National and American League Clubs began to-day to make definite arrangements for starting the spring training trip following the announcement yesterday that the major league season would open on April 23.

Harvey Croeby, a bantam of Bayonne, was matched to fight Frankie Hurns, but the former sent word at the eleventh hour he was ill. An easy mark was put in against Burns to "save the show"

No action was taken against Croeby for his unpardonable delay in notifying the club of his illness.

The Jersey Boxing Commission has a rule requiring boxers to post forfeits for appearance, and it would seem that if that is not enforced they should adopt a new rule requiring the return to spectators of money paid when the principals advertised fail to appear or are unable to box their best.

to-day that his team would train in Texas, though he did not name the city. Last season the White Sox did their presenson work at Mineral Wells, Texas, but Comiskey said he would visit Texas next week and look over a number of sites before selecting a camp for his players.

DAINTY LADY WINS

New Obleans, Dec. 24.—Bars and Stars, the five-year-old bay gelding, by Helmet and Follies Bergeres, owned by W. C. Weant, defeated a big field of platers in the fifth race, the feature at the Jefferson Park track this afternoon. Georgie Walls got him away from the barrier flying and made every post a winning one, while Slipper finished second and Frank Monroe was third. Jockey Johnson carried off the honors in the saddla. He rode two winners. He guided Sosins to victory in the first race and landed Tito first in the third. The results:

First Race—Three-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $500; six furlongs; Margery, 105 (Rodrigues), 18 to 6, 8 to 8 and 1 to 2, first; Parier Roy, 132 (Robinson), 7 to 2, 8 to 8 and 1 to 2, second; Dr. Campbell, 112 (Walls), 4 to 1, 7 to 8 and 2 to 5, third Time, 1:21 3-5.
